I am not always you, And you are not always mine
It's alright to fall apart sometimes...

What Your Doctor Doesn't Know

About Nutritional Medicine May Be Killing You

25 Dec 2007

Medical doctors are trained to treat disease with drugs. But they are not trained in the most powerful tool for your health.

Sadly, by the time you are diagnosed with a disease, you may already be missing out on the healthy, vibrant life you deserve. Now, this revolutionary new book by M.D Ray Strand shows you simple steps you can take to protect your health both now and well into the future and even reverse the damage and disease that may already be present.

What Your Doctor Doesn't Know about Nutritional Medicine May Be Killing You will teach you.

What the government's recommended daily allowance (RDA) of key nutrients aren't equipping your body's natural defenses to protect you from disease and what amounts you do need.

How the breakdown of oxygen inside your body is wreaking havoc and what you can do to repair the damage.

How you can fight back against allergies and constant sinus infections.

Why the drugs your doctor can prescribe are not your best defense against chronic degenerative disease.

Drawing on extensive research culled from over 1,300 clinical studies in well known medical journals. Dr Strand illuminates the critical role that nutritional medicine plays in showing the aging process and reclaiming health, even after the devastation of illness such as diabetes, cancer, heart disease chronic fatigue, multiple sclerosis and many other disease.
